This Week in Wabash

Hello, Wabash,

I hope your Monday has gotten off to a great start. The sun is shining outside my office window, and the temperature is above freezing. Therefore, given the weather we've been experiencing recently, it feels almost tropical. I hope it lasts.

As I mentioned in last week's newsletter, Big Bad Voodoo Daddy arrived in Wabash for their performance last weekend at the Honeywell Center.

I recently had a chance to interview Kurt Sodergren the drummer, and a founding member, of Big Bad Voodoo Daddy. This was a real treat because I listened to Big Bad Voodoo Daddy and other swing groups a lot when I was growing up in the '90s. Now, my children love to listen to their version of "Mr. Heat Miser" during the holidays. And they are the house band at the Brown Derby scenes in one of my favorite movies, "Swingers." (They even did the theme song for the sitcom "Third Rock From The Sun.") The story was in Wednesday's paper and I hope you had a chance to check it out.

Looking ahead, I have been in communication with the Honeywell Center as to the many other exciting acts they have coming over the following weeks and months. So, stay tuned for more great interviews with some of these as their respective shows grow closer.

Well, that's all I have for you this week. I hope you have a great rest of your week.

Best,
Rob
